

Anglesola, December 2008

Dear customer:

According to the period established for the pre-registration of chemical substances from the 1st of June to the 1st of December 2008 by the European Union regulation EC nº 1907/2006, better known as REACH; we want to inform you that our main suppliers have confirmed us the pre-registration of the raw materials they supply to our firm for the manufacturing of our products. Pre- registration numbers have not been provided to us, as they are not obliged by law.

Despite of this, we also want to inform you that none of the chemical raw materials used in our production processes are included in the “Candidate List of substances of very High concern” (SVHC) published by the European Chemicals Agency, which includes 15 extremely dangerous substances whose use may require especial allowance.

Our intention is to gather information about all our customer’s applications to make sure that they are included as identified applications in the registration of the raw materials. For that we will contact you in a near future with a standard questionnaire to define the application and the especial environment of each product.

In the meantime we remain at your disposal for any further doubts or questions you may have.
